Want to Outrank Industry Giants?

Here's the MISSING PIECE to Your SEO Puzzle!

Aastha Kochar

You've been spending countless hours writing every piece of content but it still doesn't rank on SERPs & bring you results.

Relatable?

Well, backlinks remain to be one of the 3 most important search engine ranking factors, as per Google.

As a content marketer who has worked with some of the biggest brands like Invideo, Ahrefs and WriteSonic, I can vouch that backlinks continue to play a decisive role in your website's performance.

Backlinks validate the credibility and authority of the website.

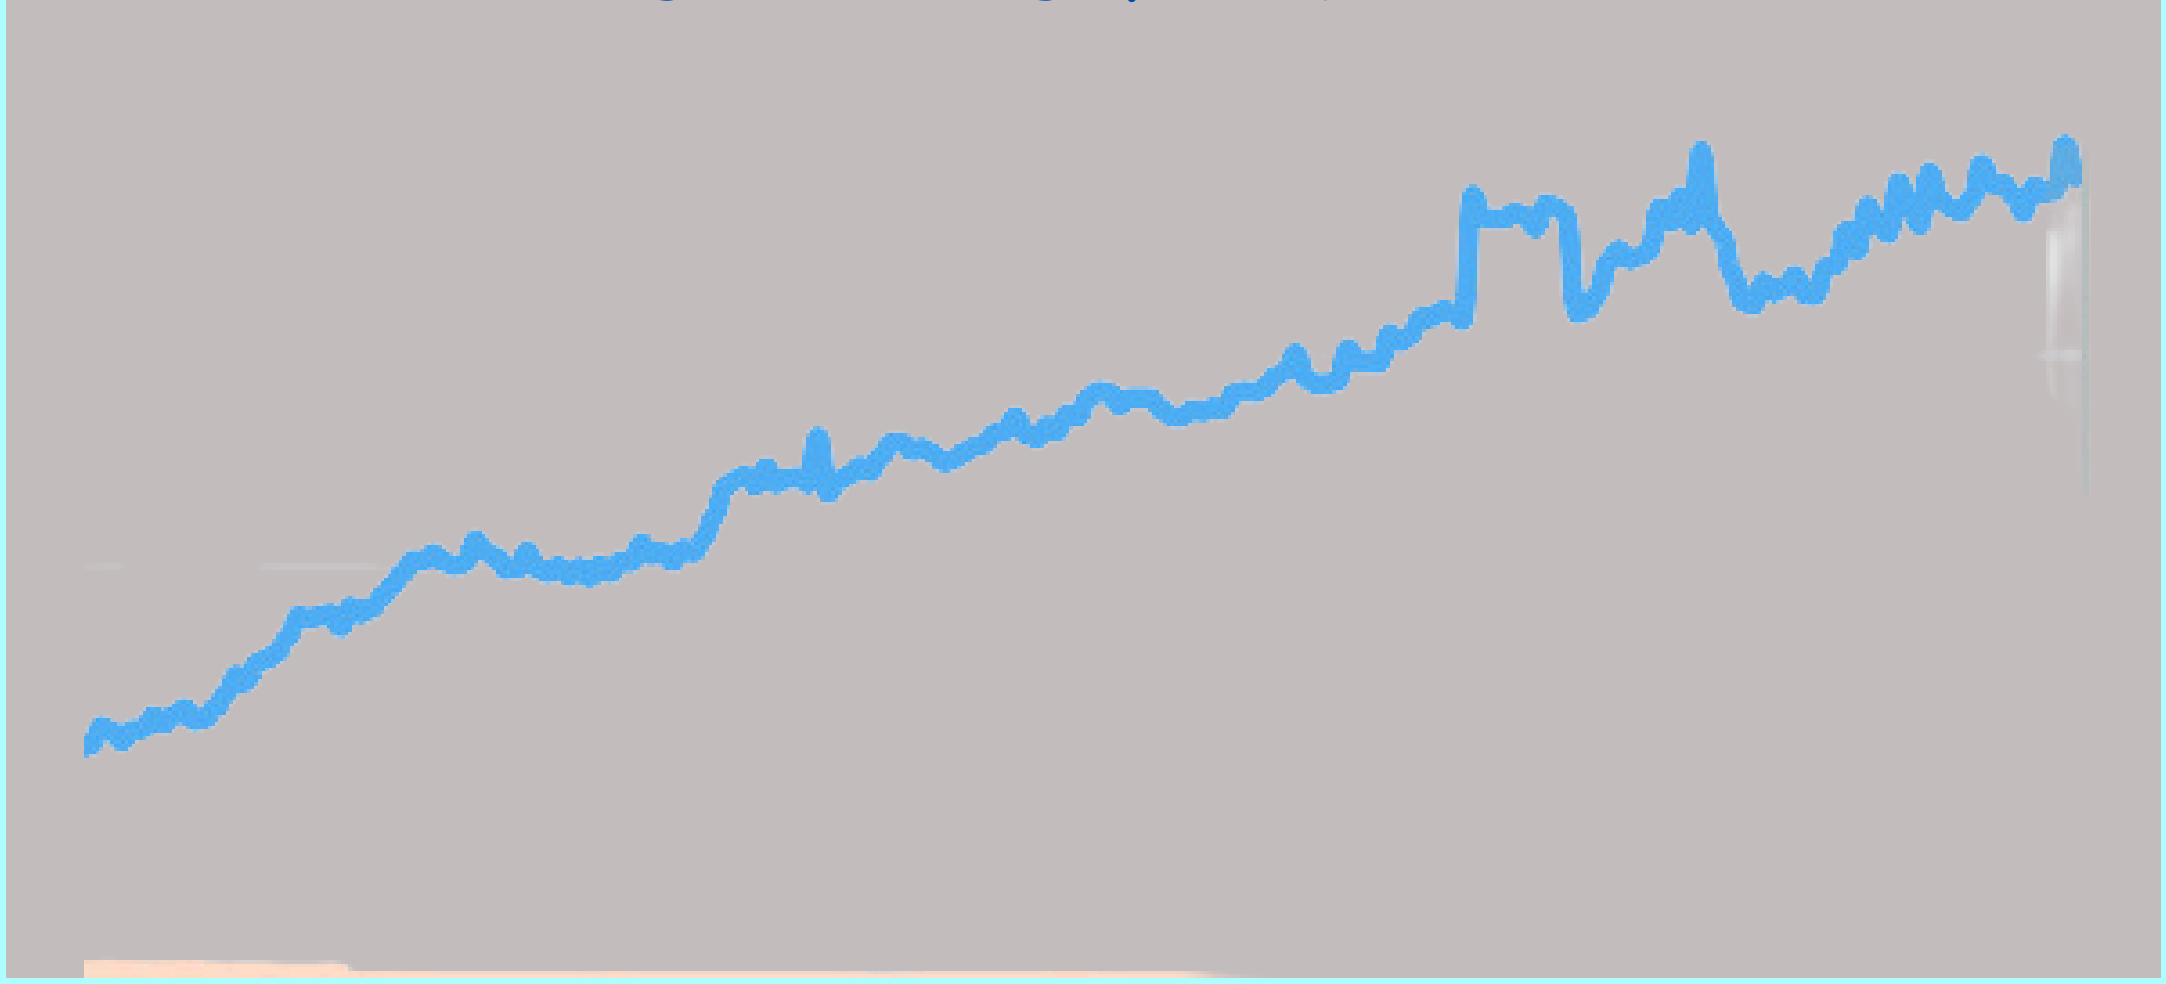
Imagine a top creator commenting on your LinkedIn post.

- You'll get more eyeballs,
- LinkedIn's algo will push your post further &
- People will see you as credible

Right?

That's exactly what a high-quality backlink does to your website.

The higher the number of quality backlinks on your website, the greater the chance of it climbing the SERP ladder & generating quality traffic.



Backlinks → Enhanced Visibility → Boosted Brand Awareness

Backlinks make your website discoverable & credible.
As simple as that!

They make you seen among your target audience and increase your brand awareness.

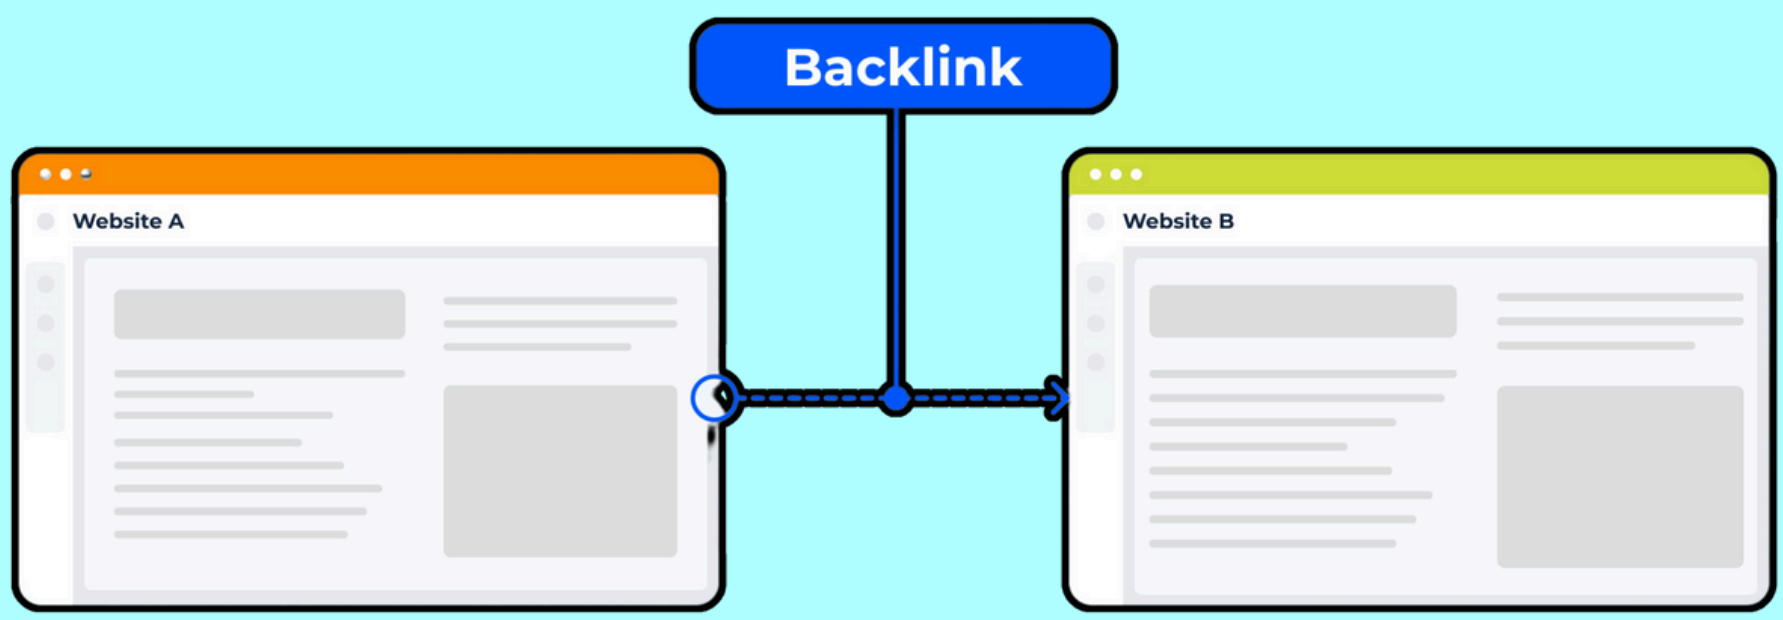
Not sure how it works?

- Since a high-authority site points at your site, Google assumes it to be credible (thereby boosting your authority)
- If a relevant website links to your website, its readers may also navigate to your website to learn more (thereby increasing your traffic)
- The readers may also see you as an authority (thereby becoming a potential customer)



But Aastha, "how to build backlinks?".

Swipe left to learn 4 ways to build backlinks.

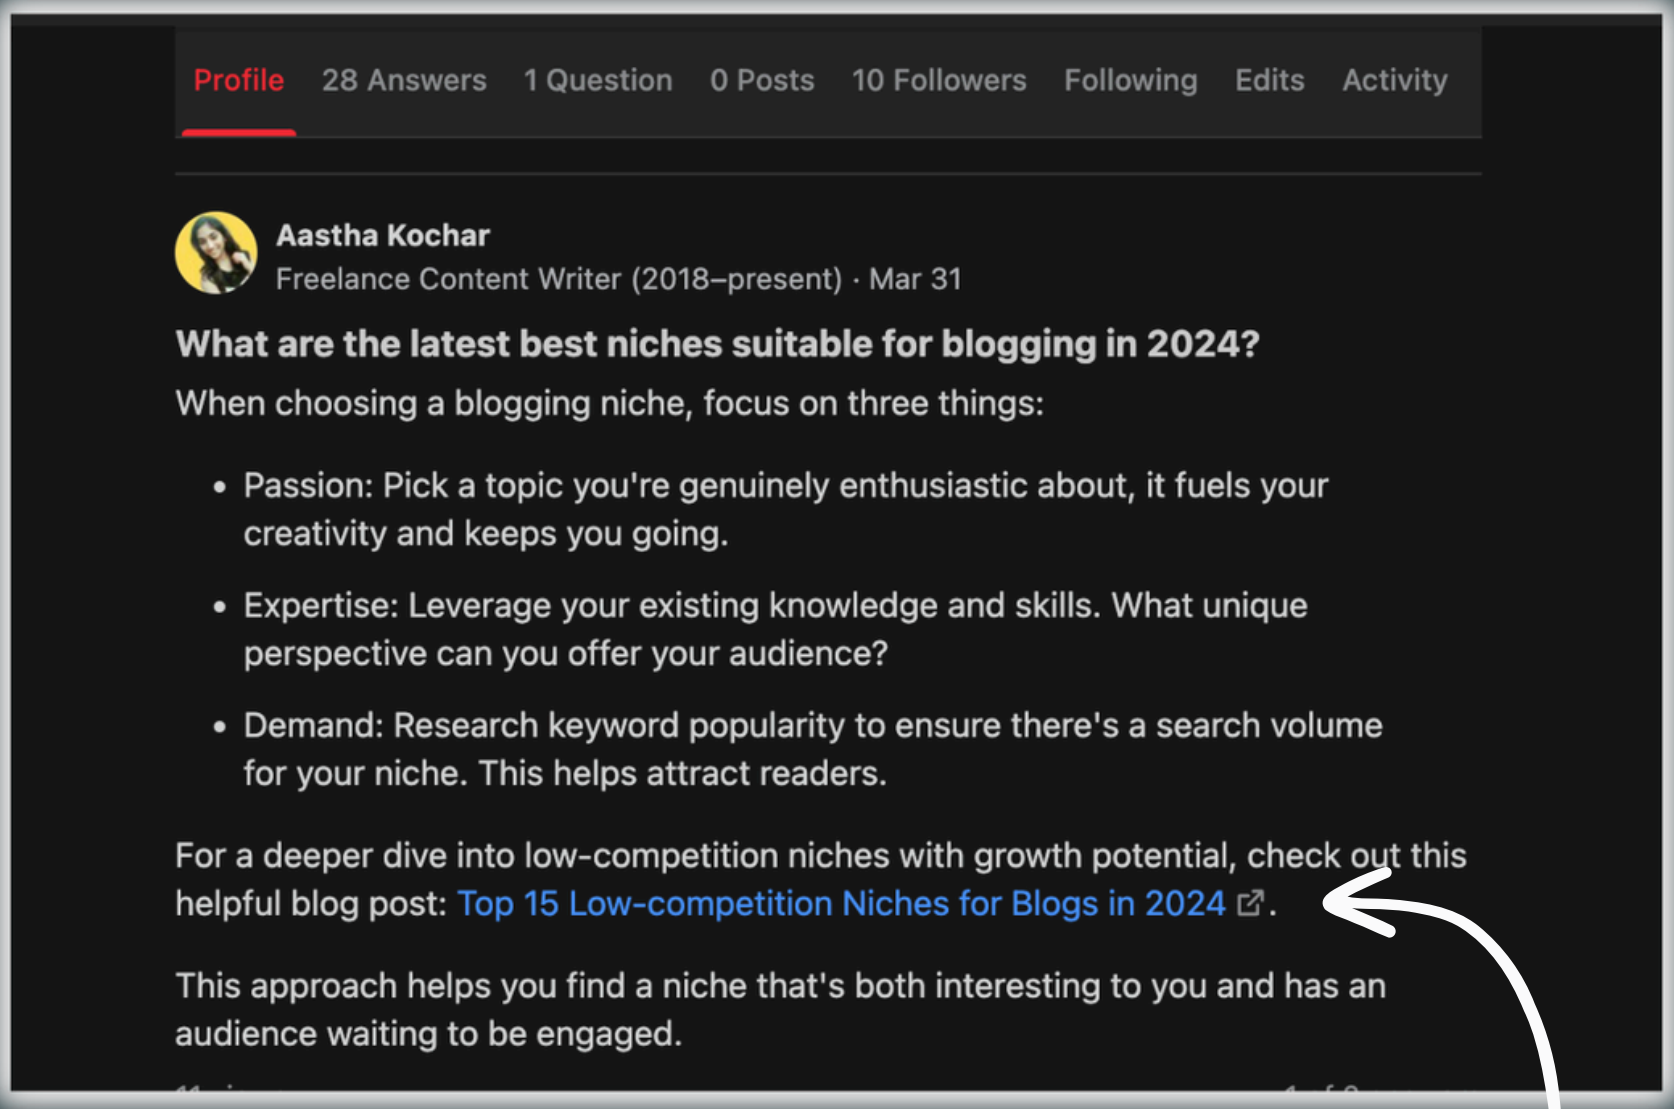
1. Add Backlinks

You can leverage certain websites and forums that allow you to post content and add links manually. E.g. Quora, Reddit, Wikipedia etc.

Pros: Easy, less time-consuming.

Cons: Poor quality backlinks.

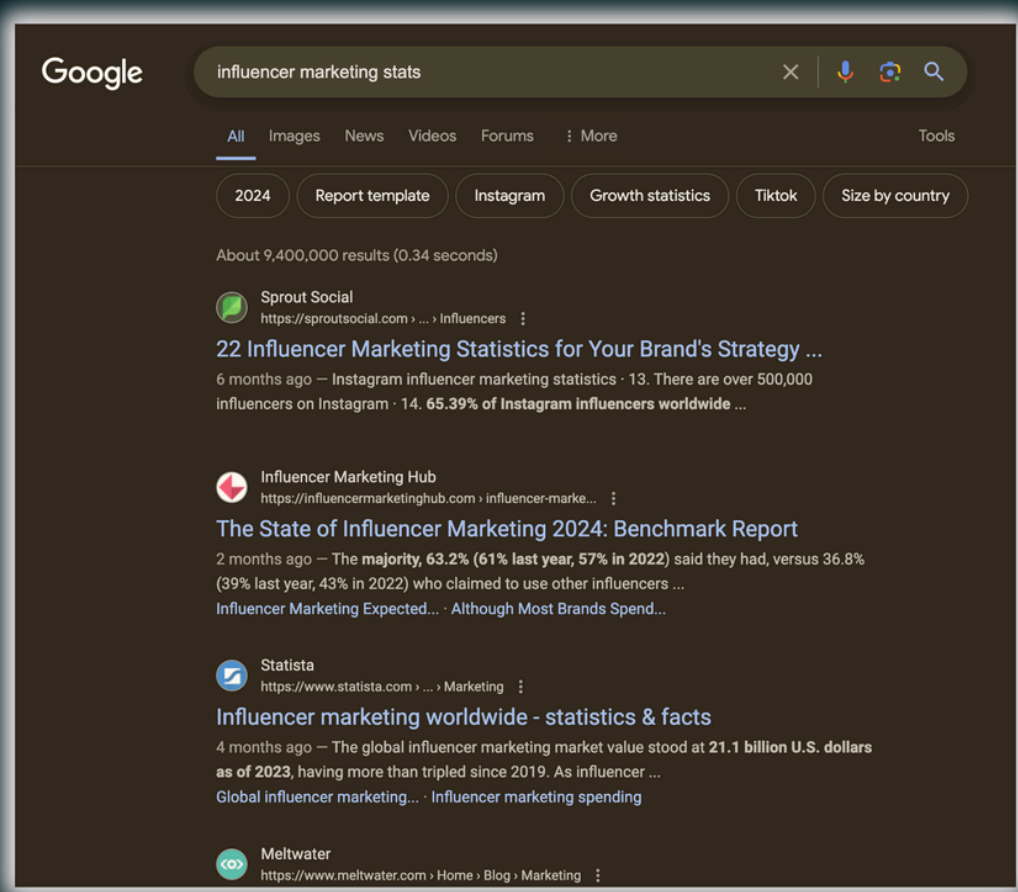
(not seen as valuable since anyone can create them).



2. Earn Backlinks

Publish well-researched, audience-centric, value-laden content and pay attention to details.

Create ripples with your too-hard-to-ignore content, and you will earn backlinks naturally from high-domain authority websites.



Certain types of content perform well, such as "Definition" and "Stats" articles. This is because most blog writers add links to them for more credibility.

Pros: Naturally earned links boost your credibility by manifolds.

Cons: Time-consuming, super-hard-to-get backlinks.

(especially for less authority sites).

3. Ask for Backlinks

This is more like a give-and-take kind of deal!

- Prepare the right pitch.
- Identify the most relevant prospects.
- Run the outreach campaign non-stop.

And you should be able to get a couple of backlinks for your website.

Pros: Budget-friendly or free.

Cons: Cumbersome, low success rate.

4. Buy Backlinks

Yes, buying backlinks is a legit tactic to improve your website ranking!

Don't believe me yet?

Let me tell you why!

They are easy to get & yet, equally effective in enhancing:

- Domain authority and domain rating
- Search engine rankings
- Inflow of organic traffic

The only catch? It should be from a high-quality website.
